

Southern California Planning Congress

Greening LA's Growing Transportation Network:

EnviroMetro, a coalition of over 60 LA-based organizations, seeks to broaden Metro's long range planning vision as it implements an expanding transportation network. For Metro's proposed 2016 sales tax measure, EnviroMetro advocates reducing emissions, improving health, protecting natural assets, developing a comprehensive regional active transit network, and supporting economic opportunity by developing a green public infrastructure that provides equitable access to a comprehensive system of parks and open space, a project called "Transit to Trails." Learn how you can help link transportation planning and funding to critical quality of life goals and objectives.

Co-sponsored by the California Center for Land and Water Stewardship at Cal Poly Pomona.
