

Southern California Planning Congress

An Evening with Governor Michael Dukakis

Michael Dukakis continues to champion excellence in governance as a professor at Northeastern University and UCLA, public transit proponent, and advocate for urban America. He served two terms as Governor of Massachusetts and was the 1988 Democratic nominee for President. Infrastructure priorities are finally part of the national dialogue and will reshape the form of cities such as Los Angeles and Boston in the years to come. Interact with Governor Dukakis as he shares his perspectives on best practices in local, state, and federal leadership, and transportation planning and implementation.

Guest Speaker:

Governor Michael Dukakis

JD, Harvard Law School, 1960; Distinguished Professor of Political Science, Northeastern University; Visiting Professor, the Luskin School of Public Affairs, UCLA, current; Governor, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, 1975 to 1979 and 1983 to 1991; and Democratic nominee for President of the United States, 1988.
